Dear friends,

With the winter and new year upon us, you may be staying close to a fireplace—if you live in a cold weather climate—tackling resolutions or catching up on a list of books or indoor projects. Others of you continue to minister faithfully, regardless of what time of year it is.

No matter where you find yourself, we know you will be encouraged by this year's Founder's Week, which will explore the theme, The Hope Within Us. We invite all of you to join us for a wonderful week of inspiration and fellowship, February 6–10, 2012. You will find details for class celebrations, the Annual Alumni Banquet, a list of speakers, and more in this issue. The classes of 1962, 1972, 1987, and 2002 will have additional celebration opportunities, but all classes ending in a "2" or "7" will be meeting together on Alumni Day, Tuesday, February 7th. Plan to join us to reconnect with former classmates, administration, and faculty.

We pray that in this new year, you find time to reflect on God's unfailing love, which compelled Him to send His one and only Son to earth to die for our sins. May you renew your commitment to grow stronger in His presence, answering His call for your life, so you can be a blessing to those around you.

Serving Christ together,

Nancy K Hastings

125th Anniversary Celebration in Review

With more than 3,000 people in attendance, Moody Bible Institute concluded its 125th Anniversary Celebration with a luncheon on October 1 at the Sheraton Hotel & Towers in Chicago, IL. Dr. Chuck Swindoll, host of Insight for Living, served as the guest speaker for the historic occasion.

The program included performances by Moody's music ensembles, two videos from the 125th Anniversary documentary series, and a panel discussion about the future direction of Moody. Guests also enjoyed a D. L. Moody sermon reenactment by Reg Grant, director of the Media and Communication Program and professor of Pastoral Ministries at Dallas Theological Seminary. Following the luncheon, guests were invited to tour the Chicago campus.

The 125th Anniversary celebration officially kicked off on January 25 with employees and students gathering together for a special President's Chapel.

Earlier this year Moody Publishers released an updated edition of The MBI Story—The Vision and Worldwide Impact of Moody Bible Institute, written by alumnus Jim Vincent '78.

Friends around the world also engaged with Moody through social media outlets including Facebook and Twitter, along with the official 125th Anniversary Web site. And during Founder's Week 2011, Moody had the privilege of hosting David Powell, D. L. Moody's great grandson, along with his wife, Lucia.

At the heart of this year's celebration was the 125 Hours of Prayer. From Sunday, August 2 through Friday, August 26, more than 500 people from 34 states and 12 countries prayed for the ministries of Moody. An outdoor Vespers service on the Chicago campus Sunday evening kicked off the 125 Hours of Prayer, while a performance by singer/song-writer Aaron Shust in Torrey-Gray Auditorium on Friday evening brought it to a close.

"This past year has truly been an incredible time of celebration," Dr. Nyquist said. "For 125 years God has faithfully sustained the ministries of Moody, and by His grace we will continue to trust Him for the future. As we move forward together, I ask that you pray that Moody's ministries will continue to advance the gospel of Jesus Christ around the world."

Missions Conference 2011: October 11–14

The opening night of this year's conference, Back to the Future: Celebrating the Past, Engaging the Future, saw a new twist on the SMF Concert of Prayer: prayer walks. In addition to several prayer walks through various Chicago neighborhoods, conference participants circled the Chicago campus and prayed for the nations. Plenary speakers at the conference included Operation Mobilization founder George Verwer '60 and Chair and Professor of Moody's World Missions and Evangelism Department Tim Sisk. Other key speakers included the author of The Missional Mom blog, Helen Lee (wife of Music Professor Brian Lee), Founder and Director of Church Multiplication Associates, Neil Cole, and World Vision Chicago CEO, Felicia Thompson. Students had the opportunity to meet representatives from more than 50 mission agencies at 113 breakout seminars on Wednesday and Thursday. New to the conference this year was Ethne Fest on Thursday night, when some of Moody's international and ethnic American students performed music from all over the world. Participants were also invited to pray in more than 20 heart languages.

Technology played a major role at this year's conference. Participants kept up with all of the events via Twitter and Facebook, and listeners and participants texted questions to conference coordinators and speakers. In addition, the new Moody Standard Web site, which posted the full conference schedule, received more than 4,000 hits.

Spokane Missions Conference: November 14–15

At the Spokane Missions Conference, the general session opened with a word from Dr. Steve Strauss, Professor of World Missions and Evangelism at Dallas Theological Seminary. Dr. Strauss served 10 years as the director of SIM U.S.A. and 19 years as a missionary in Ethiopia with SIM. He is passionate about cross-cultural theological education and leadership, contextualization of theology, mission history, and African studies. In addition to the four general sessions, the conference hosted more than 30 mission organizations at more than 60 seminars for both students and employees.

Founder's Week, February 6–10, 2012: The Hope Within Us

Thrive80

As part of Moody’s vision to bring its legacy forward into a dynamic future, Moody Publishers is focusing on “Millennials,” a name that generally applies to people who are 18-30 years old. To speak directly to that generation, Moody Publishers is going straight to the source, recruiting, training, and supporting writers in that age group. This new publishing team is called Thrive80, because Millennials were all born after 1980.

Currently, this group is made up of about 30 student interns and alumni volunteers led by Randall Payleitner, acquisitions editor, and Duane Sherman, spiritual formation marketing manager. The team hopes to expand by finding writers from colleges across the country.

Thrive80 began as a blog, the perfect venue for helping tech-savvy writers in this generation develop Millennial-focused messages. Payleitner said the blog helps to build writers’ skills, giving them an opportunity to grow and to develop interesting, publishable ideas.

“Randall and Duane are committed to this being grassroots,” Corum Hughes, a senior communications major who fulfilled an internship with Thrive80 said. “They want it to be from the student interns and volunteer writers who can speak to and from this generation.”

The first of Thrive80’s books is set to be released in January. Farewell to Facebook, at Least for the Weekend, by 2011 Moody graduate Kyle Tennant, focuses on the use and overuse of social media.

Hilliary Anderson '07-'11, co-founded Hope for Life Ministries with Megan Swanson B.A. '10 after a particularly moving trip to Kigali, Rwanda, in 2008. Hope for Life (HFL) is a boys' home that serves the needs of Rwandan street children. The children are provided with the needed resources for leaving street life and receiving long-term spiritual and emotional healing.

During her last years at Moody, Hilliary worked on fundraising, accounting, and various administrative tasks, along with managing the Web site, blog, and newsletters. She spent her summers at HFL as well, working directly with the boys and staff members. Shortly after graduation, she moved to Rwanda, where she now serves as HFL's Executive Director and Treasurer. She plans to complete her student teaching and receive her B.A. in Elementary Education and Bible by spring 2012 and will remain in Rwanda afterward.

By visiting the HFL Web site, you can learn how to support the boys' home through prayer and giving and by becoming pen pals with the boys. Please feel welcome to write to and pray for Hilliary and Megan, as ministry in another country is growing tiring for them, and they both plan on remaining at HFL long term.

Micah Bournes

Micah Bournes B.A. '10 is a spoken word artist. He began exploring this poetry and music genre while studying at Moody. While in Chicago he participated in many local poetry slams, performed for the student body, and won the first-place title two years in a row at the Intercollegiate National Religious Broadcasters Competition.

Since then he has been invited to perform at a variety of events in venues across the country. Much of his work today is focused on social justice ministries. He will be performing in February 2012 at the annual Justice Conference held in Portland, Oregon.

Micah's Web site features his poetry and recordings of some of his spoken words and music. You can also see his tour schedule, which is updated frequently.

Drew Hutcheson '10 and his wife Amber Hutcheson are raising support for their work with International Justice Mission (IJM), a human rights organization that serves victims of slavery, sexual exploitation, and other forms of oppression. For the last year and a half, Drew has served as youth pastor at Bethel Baptist Church in Fremont, Michigan, while Amber has stayed home taking care of their son, Isaiiah (1).

Since October, Drew and Amber have been raising support full time and are aiming to depart for Uganda between May and June 2012. Once there, Drew will serve as Church and Community Relations Fellow with IJM, developing relationships with other church and community leaders. Along with his relational and networking responsibilities, he will be tasked with developing and presenting to churches sound theological messages on the biblical call of justice.

Drew and Amber are at the very beginning of their fundraising journey and need to be at a 100% level of support in order to depart for Uganda. Their blog has family updates, ministry information, and instructions for giving and praying.

Christopher Jones B.A. '09 is in his third and final year as a Resident Advisor at Black Forest Academy in Kandern, Germany, where he lives in a high school boys' dorm with 18 students from 16 countries. As an RA, he is closely involved in the boys' studies, extracurricular activities, and personal growth. He accompanies them on study trips, sporting events, ceremonies, and celebrations. By the time graduation rolls around, he admits to feeling quite like a proud parent to his students.

Chris has kept a detailed blog for the past three years. He uses it to post updates and photos from his ministry and his traveling adventures. He also uses it as an opportunity to invite prayer and financial support, providing updates and new requests often.

Blair '07 and Erin (Rogers '04) Cushman were married in April of 2008 in Chicago. Erin studied at Moody for one semester in the spring of 2004 before transferring to the University of North Texas and graduating in 2006. In the fall of 2008, the Cushmans moved to Texas to start the Headwaters summer camp program at Camp Eagle. They helped with the building of a completely new campus and starting a program from scratch at an already existing camp. Headwaters is the third campus at Camp Eagle, where Blair and Erin serve 8–16-year-old boys and girls.

In October 2010, they welcomed their first daughter, Gwendolyn Hope, who, after a healthy full-term pregnancy and labor, went to be with Jesus after 36 hours. Blair and Erin have experienced an incredible journey in the last year of grief and joy, as they have known intimately God's nearness and faithfulness. In February, they started a ministry called Hope Mommies to reach out to others experiencing the same loss as they have, meeting them with the hope of Christ. Blair and Erin have recently opened their home to foster children and are expecting their next biological child this spring.

Darnell Starks B.A. '05, with his wife Karen, is the senior pastor at Trinity Church of the Nazarene in Perth, Scotland.

Darnell graduated from Greater Cincinnati Christian Academy in 1984 and entered the United States Marine Corps, where he served as an Aviation Ordnance Munitions Technician. After one year of active duty, he spent five years in the Reserves. After leaving active duty military service, he trained at the Computer Learning Center and received a certificate in computer operations. Prior to graduation, he was hired by Allstate Insurance Company. He worked there for a year as a computer operator before leaving to pursue training as a financial planner.

During this time, he met and married his wife Karen. He began work in the construction industry, finding better wages there. He started as a laborer, then worked up to becoming the labor foreman and eventually became President and co-owner of a commercial painting and decorating company.

By the time he was 35, Darnell had success in business, but perceived a call from God to pursue full-time ministry. So, with a wife, five children, and a mortgage, he began his theological training at Moody. Later in his studies, he and Karen and their three youngest children went to Glasgow, Scotland, to study for a year at International Christian College through Moody. They now reside in Perth.

Darnell and Karen have five children—Ricky, Brandi, Rhyann, Kari (current student), and Darnell Jr.—and nine grandchildren.

Norm '64 and Rebecca (Horski '64) Wretlind co-authored the book When God is the Life of the Party (Navpress, 2003). Over 30 years ago, Norm and Becky began hosting a Christmas party for their neighborhood, using it as a way to introduce their neighbors to Christ. Eventually their parties led to Bible studies, which led to both individuals and entire families trusting Christ as their Savior. A church, now at over 1,000 members, began through these efforts and meets weekly in Richardson, Texas.

The Wretlinds founded NeighborHope Ministries International in 1998, basing it on the same principle of lifestyle evangelism and using neighborhood parties to build relationships and testify to the gospel, both locally and abroad. In 2000, a pastor in India saw purpose in this vision and began using the NeighborHope training and methods to reach thousands in India.

Over 22,600 Christmas parties have occurred with over 1.6 million people hearing the gospel. Thousands of house churches have been formed and existing churches have been strengthened. In the last year, the ministry's staff has been approached with more opportunities internationally to present the basic idea of a neighborhood Christmas party as a starting point for relating the gospel.

Rebecca and Norm Wretlind

Gatherings

Ukarumpa

Ukarumpa is the largest center in the world with over 500 professional missionary staff, plus families, representing 14 countries. Operated by Wycliffe Bible Translators/SIL, its focus is to bring God's Word to the nearly 800 language groups of this beautiful island. The task is nearly half complete, but workers are still desperately needed. Recently, several Moody alums got together in Ukarumpa where they sponsored a tea and talked about great Moody memories. Not all Moody alums were able to make it to the reunion, but the school was well represented. Jim and Peggy Powell are retired from 45 years of Christian literature ministry and are spending a portion of their time in assignments like this one.

RETRACTION

In the Fall 2011 issue, Present with the Lord section, we included information concerning alumna Joyce Moody '53 in error. Joyce is very much alive and living at the VIP Manor Nursing Home in Wood River, IL. In a note sent to the Alumni Office, Joyce reports that the Lord is still giving her opportunity to witness for Him among the residents, nursing staff, aides, and visitors. We sincerely apologize to Joyce, her family, and friends for the misinformation that was printed and rejoice with her in the life God continues to give her.
